

Get the most out of corporate super

Corporate superannuation is an important part of any business. As a business owner, you must ensure each employee receives the statutory 9 per cent superannuation benefit and that you offer employees a default fund that meets the requirements of the Super Choice legislation. But a good corporate super plan is much more than that.

You and your employees will get the most benefit from a corporate super plan that is both easy to administer and competitive, ensuring you all reap the rewards of your workforce years when you retire. A good super plan can also be used to attract staff and reward loyal and high-performing employees.

Genesys Wealth Advisers provides specialised corporate super advice, with the backing of dedicated staff who research corporate super products to help find the right one for your business. We can make corporate super easy and efficient, while maximising your employees' retirement savings. Our services cover:

- Reviewing your current arrangements.
- Helping you establish a superannuation solution that is compliant, easy to administer and caters for employees' investment needs.

- Supplying the education necessary for your employees to understand their super and be kept informed over the longer term.
- Providing you with easy access to your corporate superannuation account.
- Providing your employees with easy access to information on their individual account.
- Offering individual wealth advice to your employees, as required.
